Section G: Comprehension [1] (10 marks)

Read the passage carefully and answer questions 31 to 39.

Around the world, people live in homes of many shapes and sizes. In some countryside, people live together with their family in a huge house with gardens or backyards. On the other hand, the buildings in cities are usually very close together.

A home can be any kind of building – large or small. Some people even have homes on boats, in tents or in caravans that can be moved around. Caravans are mobile homes. They are towed by either a car or a huge truck. Some of them are holiday homes. We can see many families staying together in these caravans. 5

In the past, rich and important people built strong castles to keep their families safe. The castles were built on hill tops with high walls and some even had moats. Moats were deep and wide. The ground was dug and filled with water. The moats made it difficult for enemies to attack. 10

Today, we have different ways of protecting our homes. Some homes are installed with video cameras and an alarm system. These will help to alert home owners if someone tries to break in.

Everyone needs a home where they feel sheltered and safe.

Section H: Comprehension [2] (10 marks)

Read the passage carefully and answer questions 40 to 46.

Some people listen to the radio, exercise or drink a cup of tea or coffee in the morning. Bob and I start our day by playing the 'stare-signal' game. Every morning, Bob will walk lazily towards me, and stare at me before meowing softly. It will begin to purr loudly if it fails to get my attention. Bob will then touch my face gently with its paw, as if nudging me, "Don't ignore me!"

5

Cats are remarkably interesting creatures. Despite its enormous size and clumsiness, Bob can leap on top of high cupboards with ease. On its bad days, it will miss its target and fall flat to the floor. I always laugh at its funny tricks.

There is never a dull moment being around Bob. I have always been amazed at its speed and strength when it tries to catch a fluttering butterfly or a plump pigeon. It must be related to some kind of wild cat. I recall the day it simply showed up at the window of my living room and has stayed on since. Bob's past is still a mystery to me.

10

I have a much happier life with Bob around. I am thankful that Bob has given me its love and friendship.

SECTION G: COMPREHENSION (8 x 1 mark)

Read the passage below and answer questions 35 to 42.

Kai was fond of elephants. He had always been fascinated with them although he had only seen them in books and on television. Kai lived in a small village and he was never given a chance to see real elephants.

Fortunately, when Kai was 25 years old, he received a chance to join a crew of wildlife explorers. On one of their journeys, they passed through a village in a forest that was famous for their elephants. He could not believe that his wish would finally come true.

Kai and his team of explorers spent many hours with the elephants. The elephant masters, the Mahouts, taught them many skills. They learnt to use simple sounds and commands to make the elephants move and do things. Once they were confident, the Mahouts allowed them to ride the elephants. At the end of the day, they bathed and fed the elephants before going to bed.

Kai was impressed with the elephants' strength. The elephants were able to carry heavy logs, so he was shocked to see these elephants tied to a fence with only a thin rope.

"Won't they break the rope easily and escape?" Kai asked one of the Mahouts.

"No," replied the Mahout.

He then explained that when the elephants were young, the trainers used strong ropes to tie them so they were unable to break the ropes. The baby elephants grew up believing that the thin ropes were too strong for them to break and did not try to break them.

Read the passage below and answer questions 43 to 48.

One evening, Mr and Mrs Wang were driving home along a dark, narrow road. Their headlights shone on something that made them gasp in fear. A gorilla! It was enormous and looked hideous. The creature looked at them for a moment before heading into the darkness.

"We'd better report this to the police," exclaimed Mr Wang excitedly. "The gorilla must have escaped from the zoo!"

They drove quickly to the nearest police station and the inspector on duty rang the zoo. After a while, he said to them, "Strange, they've checked. The gorillas are in their enclosure. None has escaped."

"Both of us saw the gorilla," added Mr Wang. "Surely we can't be mistaken!" The police inspector said he would send some men to where the gorilla had been seen. Mr and Mrs Wang agreed to show them the exact spot.

When they arrived, they searched the area and suddenly, Mrs Wang screamed, "There it is! Over there!" In the beam of a searchlight, they saw the figure of the gorilla in the distance. The mystery was solved as they came closer to it, the "gorilla" took off its head and it was actually a tall boy in a gorilla costume. Mrs Wang heaved a sigh of relief. "I'm acting in a play in the theatre over there," he grinned. "Surely, you can guess my role. It's fun seeing the fear on your faces!"

"Well, you should stop," the police inspector scolded him angrily at once. "You might be mistaken for a real gorilla and get shot!"
